The Big Stamp & Scrapbooking Shows 2006

All the latest craft products on display

The Big Stamp & Scrapbooking Show is an unmissable opportunity for card-makers, rubber stampers and scrapbooking enthusiasts to see the latest products and materials displayed and demonstrated. There will be enough to satisfy everyone from the beginner to the most capable crafter with a whole host of things to see and do for all sorts of craft projects. Besides the superb displays and the latest products to see and purchase there will be free demonstrations on both days and there is a great deal of added

Demonstrations show how easy it can be attraction for visitors with free parking for up to 2,000 cars plus a free cloakroom and free entry into a prize draw.

Alexandra Palace, or 'Ally Pally' as it is affectionately known, is a wonderful venue for visitors. It is in north London, about half a mile from the A1, close to the North Circular and yet only five miles from Piccadilly Circus. It's easy to get to by road, especially with extensive AA signposting.

For those that prefer the comfort and convenience of coach travel, various coach companies organise trips to the show (see opposite page). Should public transport be more convenient, buses pass regularly and for those travelling by rail or underground the stations are just a short distance away and there's free transport to and from the local stations. There is easy access for the disabled and wheelchair users with concessions for senior citizens and children.

No matter what a crafter might want, it's probably here
